

American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (AACOM)

Situation

AACOM hosts an annual national conference for its member institutions and, until 2014, had been employing a different conference logo for each year's event. In 2014, TDC developed a new conference identity and logo to brand the national event moving forward. In 2018, AACOM turned to TDC again, continuing the partnership to create promotional materials for the latest event.

Solution

We continued to use the brand elements already in place as the foundation for the 2018 conference materials (conference logo, color palette, typestyles, etc.). Additionally we developed a new visual theme for this year's event and incorporated it into a conference program, registration materials, website banners, an awards event program, slideshow presentations, signage, name badges, and more.

Result

AACOM has continued to tout its excitement of the materials we developed for its annual meetings, which have further strengthened the identity and brand recognition of the events. Our work in this area has also become a springboard for additional assignments from AACOM to support other aspects of the association, including student recruitment for osteopathic medical schools.
