

Exede

Situation Exede is one of the nation's premier satellite broadband service providers. Featuring throughput speeds exponentially faster than those of first generation satellite systems, Exede gives rural customers across the country a satisfying online experience comparable to that of cable and DSL broadband services, which often aren't available to rural communities.

Through a partnership with our National Rural Telecommunications Cooperative client, we've helped Exede grow awareness of its services among rural electric co-ops via a wide range of online, collateral, and print campaigns. Our work for Exede continues to support numerous promotional offers and seasonal messages, and incorporate targeted strategies to maximize appeal to different communities, states, and regions.

Solution Member Tailored

We created promotional campaigns that NRTC member co-ops could use, customized with their own logos and phone numbers, to market Exede to their customers. These included various premium and discount offers on print ads, bill stuffers, and hot cards.

Seasonal

Additional marketing support for Exede was provided during strategic times of the year, including back-to-school/fall months, summer, and year-end holidays. Our work was featured in print ads, Facebook and banner ads, and countertop displays.

Results

While co-ops are managing their own media plans, they have enthusiastically embraced the creative tools we developed to attract subscribers. Our work has helped Exede expand its presence in rural communities across the country and show why its technology offers a high-quality alternative to other broadband services.

We believe it has to be GREAT to be GOOD ENOUGH for our community
