

Society of Interventional Radiology (Annual Conference)

- Situation The Society of Interventional Radiology (SIR) gives voice and support to the advancement of the interventional radiology (IR) medical specialty and to its practitioners and educators. One of the most important in-person events SIR hosts each year is its annual scientific meeting, which, due to the pandemic, needed to be reconfigured and conducted entirely online in 2021. SIR asked TDC to create a compelling brand identity and look-and-feel for communications promoting SIR 2021 to help build excitement and interest among prospective attendees worldwide.
- Solution TDC created a brand identity and overall look-and-feel that conveyed a forward-facing, futuristic perspective that reflected the overall tenor of the programs at the event and also helped to serve as an appropriate “virtual home” theme for the online meeting platform. This graphic foundation, as well as a tagline and core messaging we developed, were incorporated into a campaign with a broad array of executions that included a landing page, online banner ads, social media ads, print ads, an email template, iconography, a style guide, and other materials.
- Result SIR reported robust registration and attendance levels for the event, surpassing expectations. The SIR marketing team and TDC have already initiated “save the date” communications for next year’s annual event that incorporate many elements from the recent meeting’s brand look-and-feel.
